

Welcome

Welcome

The CNMV has started a new publication, which includes information about the main documents issued by the European Commission and international organizations with a significant role in the financial regulation and, more specifically, in securities markets (FSB, CESR, IOSCO, Joint Forum, etc.)

This initiative is based on the growing importance of regulatory developments and especially the recommendations of international organisations to our regulatory framework. The aim of this publication is to facilitate the monitoring and understanding of the international debate on the securities markets regulation.

This service is composed of a four-monthly electronic bulletin and an e-mail alert delivery. The bulletin consists of:

- A brief presentation of the most important subject of the last four months and a complete list of the documents that the bulletin contains;
- A permanent section, which incorporates a link to the public consultation document and other relevant documents, a glossary of acronyms and the procedure for subscription.
- Access to the current edition of the bulletin and the previous documents organised by institutions as well as theme: supervisory architecture, rating agencies, market transparency, short selling, etc.)

The alert service allows subscribers to receive an e-mail each time that a new public consultation document issued by an international organisation is included in the CNMV web page.
